Foreign Advertiser on the New York Central Railroad.

The Tribune brings the news of another tragedy on the New York Central

Railroad, resulting in the instant death of eight persons, and the wounding of forty others. The accident occurred at half past six o'clock yesterday morning, between Whiteboro' and Utica. It was caused by the crushing of a bridge over a creek, while two trains were passing over it in opposite directions. The Gannett Express, going east at a high rate of speed, was literally torn in splinters and thrown promiscuously into the bed of the creek. The bodies of crushed bodies and limbs, scalps and split rock, and the other consonants of the catastrophe, are shocking to behold. The cause of the accident is stated by one authority to have been rotten timbers in the bridge, and another, defective iron in an axle—it makes no difference to the sorrowed victim. Mr. Jones F. Tracy, Superintendent of the Chicago and Rock Island R. R., is among the injured.

Sign of the "Terror."

Mr. Ward Cannon, Jr., has sold his interest in the Daily Times newspaper to Wm. H. Page, late Postmaster of this city. The control of the paper remains in the hands of H. Stearns.

In close connection with this event,

Mr. Cook will vacate the Post-office on the 30th of June—the close of the fiscal year. In this item of "Intelligence the Times is certainly ahead of its contemporaries.

The Point of Attack—The Dred Scott Decision.

Our Republican friends, who imagine that the next Presidential battle is to turn upon any question as uncertain and transitory as that involved in the passage of the Nebraska bill, or the conduct of the Democratic party in the State of Kansas, have got a wide view of the field to be fought. Were Kansas admitted to-day, and the Nebraska infamy exposed from the standpoints of both the administration and of the people, the true plan of Republicans' attack would not be changed. They are but the incidental questions that enter into the controversy between the parties. The assertion of the right of slavery to make a home in all the Territories of the United States, without other warranty than that found in the Constitution itself, is the key to which the Kansas outrages and sacrifices have their root; and though it has been intimated by the Supreme Court that that question will receive the stamp of legality whenever the point is raised in that tribunal, it is the most strenuous of all to be contested.

The subject indeed, is one of great interest. Its object would almost insure, thus much in feasible hands, and Mr. Curtis is a man of fine talents, of cultivated taste and of elegant scholarship. But no one can read his work without feeling that it is written by a man whose sympathies are all on the side of Intellect, Wealth and Power; that his feelings are with the intelligent oppressor, against the degraded slave; that he is too exclusively occupied with the blessings which white men have gained, to waste a thought upon those of black men who have been deprived.

"Within a little while, three months will be given to prove our contention. The author's speculations on the Position of Slave, the Author of the Constitution, and the Rule of Suffrage might have been written by Calavar himself.

The topics, however, will not have disappeared.

We would rather make one or two extracts from other portions of the work, and let the reader form his own opinion upon them. In chapter 10, page 265, after giving an account of the Compromises effected with regard to the slave trade, Mr. Curtis continues:

"The high an estimate cannot well fail to be made of the importance of this final settlement of the question of the slaves in the Territories. He has to thank the patriotism and liberality of the Northern States, having acquired, by reasoning from Trade."

The just and decided voice of History, has also to thank the South, for having clothed a majority of the two Houses of Congress with a full commercial power. They left, and only fitfully, the task of legislation to the Senate, and so far as they have gained, to waste a thought upon those of their slaves.

To the Free State Church, Oberlin, Ohio, forty-eight persons were added on the 29th last; forty persons were confirmed in St. Mark's Church, and as many more were received into the Baptist Church. The Methodist Church has received over one hundred persons on probation.

Thirty-eight united with the Presbyterian Church, (Rev. W. W. Williams') at Toledo, Ohio, on the 2d inst.

Eighteen persons united with the Presbyterian Church at Elyria, Ohio, on the 2d inst.

On Sunday, 2d inst., 256 persons were admitted to the various churches New Bedford, and 143 into the Lowell church, Massachusetts.

The Congregational Church in Detroit, on the 2d inst., received thirty members on probation and ten by letter. At the First Presbyterian Church, Kountee were admitted on probation of their slaves. This makes a total of forty-eight.

They had also gained the Union, with its power to prohibit Slavery in a Territory, and that the institution exists here by virtue of an authority higher than Congress or the people, and though we might have a Home & a Senate, it is the Master, in which the Slave, the Free Soil contest is brought to an end, never to be renewed until that Court is reconstructed.

Mark the law declare, through a tribunal from which there is no appeal, that Congress has not the power to prohibit Slavery in a Territory, and that the institution exists here by virtue of an authority higher than Congress or the people, and though we might have a Home & a Senate, it is the Master, in which the Slave, the Free Soil contest is brought to an end, never to be renewed until that Court is reconstructed.

The "last and candid" reader, upon comparing the records of these Southern states, with the magnitude of the objects they gained, will scarcely, we imagine, be inclined to award very high praise to their magnificence.

We invite particular attention to the chapter upon "Fugitives from Service." The discussion of this subject in a fine specimen of apologetic reading, Mr. Garrison can be impressed by its force, for the consideration of the principles which he combats, is stronger than the arguments against them. The people, especially the slaves, are to be pitied.

An unusual interest exists in the Universalist Society at Northbury, Mass. Their social meeting on Sunday morning was so crowded that fully a hundred persons were unable to obtain admission to the vestry, and the meeting was adjourned to the church, which was well filled; and as one after another urged that they should live for a higher and better life—and as they related their experience, men and women were melted to tears.

There is a great religious awakening in Memphis, Tenn. Old Fellow's Hall has been so much crowded at the daily prayer meetings, that other and larger quarters have been sought.

The New Orleans People of the 2d may—

The pastor of the church of the slaves in the city, still not reorganized, has been elected to the Upper House, he presented a moving sermon on a text selected from the Second Epistle to the Thessalonians.

Mr. Douglass' speech, and the supporters of the Free Soil bill, are making a noise.

That is well, but it is but a single offshoot from a giant trunk. Those who find their reasons for opposition to the Slave Power in such issues as these, will, when they are cleared away by the natural progress of events, return again to their allegiance, and again set up shrines of pride of the highest iniquity of all. We must, of course, the followers of Senator Douglass. They differ with Mr. Douglass only upon a single point, and the one for most difference since the passage of the Free Soil bill, is nothing away. They are the servile tools of the hierarchy of the heresy from which the London Convention and a thousand lesser outrages have sprung. They are quiet, only with one or two exceptions, of the potter's wheel; for them, as well as to Texas or Arkansas, content. We can hope for no aid from them. The Cincinnati Platform, by which they peer, Mr. Douglass' famous Spring-field speech, which may be copied, and current articles of their most trusted journals, seem to change to the Dara-Soror devotion in its length and breadth. Republicans must fight the battle alone. It is time to begin the campaign.

Washington, D. C., May 12, 1864.

The Washington letter-writer, and other political weather-cocks, seem to be pointing to a reliance on the part of Mr. Douglass to the true-blue Democracy, on such terms as the Leesburg meeting may dictate. We hardly believe it possible that the balance has been born in the Leesburg Senator and the President; but it is not wholly impossible. If anything has been born in the Leesburg Senator, it is the fact that the Democratic party follows no man, but its President, and that no man can constitute within it a separate political power. The most illustrious instance of this truth in the history of the party, is the triumph of Jacob Brown over Leesburg. If Douglass and Jackson, Senator, the balance would have been born in Leesburg. The Douglass supporters are the only ones who have any political influence in America. In the party trial Mr. Douglass has not succeeded in being elected to the National Convention, which is the chief point of the very wretched. If it is possible, that Mr. Douglass has learned by his lesson of this sort in the school of his experience at the Springfield Convention, still it is possible, though we think not probable, that he has made application to be received back into the fold, and put on his good behavior.

So far as immediate consequences go, it makes little difference to us whether Douglass is a National Democrat or adherent to his third party colleague in Springfield last month. If anything is wanted to insure his overthrow in November, it is the endorsement of a Democratic candidate at the White House.

Representing in Southern states.

The Republicans of Ohio forward us a note, or containing the following call for their County Convention—

COUNTY CONVENTION:

The Republicans of Alexander County, Indiana, call a County Convention to be held on the 1st day of June, 1864.

At Rockford, on the 1st day of June, 1864.

W. H. COOPER, Chairman.

John Clark, Vice-Chairman.

John Clark, Secretary.

John Clark, Treasurer.

Those who have been, or are likely to be late, will receive the present call of "Help," will have a seat and place to their meeting, the first Tuesday in November.

A NEW CONSTITUTIONAL CYCLOPEDIA.

A new encyclopedic of the cyclopedic kind, is announced by the Washington Union of fortifying, which says that a committee of George Washington and ready for publication a complete dictionary of every member of Congress and the administration of the Government. It will be continued from year to year, and will be published in monthly numbers.

The Cyclopedic will be published in the Government lists. The Cyclopedic—a large portion of the members of Congress have committed the printing of their political career.
